

Proposal for the replacement of the Foley Court metal detector

A serious safety issue was discovered regarding the current metal detector outside the courtroom. The detector is antiquated, as it is over 15 years old. The detector's technology is primitive, as it only detects metal object in one zone, the beltline. The single-zone detector is useless if someone carries a firearm in an ankle holster of a knife on a lanyard around the neck (see fig. 1). This could potentially cause grave danger to the judge, prosecutors, court staff, police, and/or citizens attending court. The solution to this problem is to purchase an updated detector, which measures 33 zones, from head to toe vertically, and also horizontally (see fig. 2). The detector is available on Amazon at a cost of $4099.99.
